

VICTORY LOAN OPENS TO-NIGHT IN NEW YORK

Gov. Smith Will Buy First
Note After Stroke of Twelve.

CITY TO BE STIRRED

Bewildering Number of Meetings and Special Events
Are Scheduled.

With the sale soon after midnight to-night of the first Victory note to Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the campaign for New York's quota of $1,000,000,000, being the city's share of the final price of victory, will be fairly under way. Gov. Smith will be the first to buy a whole platoon of the new issue offered for sale at the Argonne Forest, at Broadway and Forty-third street, a replica of a portion of the terrible woods of the Argonne which was the task assigned to the American Army in the last great offensive of the war. New York's Seventy-seventh Division distinguished itself in the Argonne, which had been held by the Germans for four years. Other features which will inaugurate the great loan drive to-morrow are the sounding of reveille by a whole platoon of buglers in Victory Way at 8 o'clock in the morning, the consecration of the thoroughfare at noon by Archbishop Hayes, Bishop Greer and Rabbi Silverman; delivery of the opening address by Mayor Hylan at 2:30; a concert by Pershing's Own Band at 3 P. M. and the delivery by Rear Admiral Nathaniel C. Usher, U. S. N. (retired), of a message received by radio telephone from a dirigible balloon.

Tank Parade on Fifth Avenue.

Other features of the opening day to-morrow will be a parade in Fifth Avenue of the four American tanks which have been assigned to this city for the entire campaign, the opening day meeting at the Sub-Treasury, Wall and Nassau streets, where the Rev. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity; Brig-Gen. William C. Cole, of the Yancey division; Lieut. Carl H. Blanchard of Texas and Dr. L. S. Rowe will speak.

At noon before the Altar of Liberty in Madison Square Park, Manning, Charles S. Whitman and Paul D. Cravath will speak under the auspices of the National League for Women's Service. With Mrs. Coffin Van Rensselaer presiding. Other meetings will be held at Times Square, by the Motor Corps of America, in front of the Public Library by the War Camp Community Service and at the City Hall.

To-night the ceremonies at the Argonne Forest, Broadway and Forty-third street, will begin with a motion picture, "The Price of Peace," taken by the United States Army Signal Corps, followed by the recital by Miss Julia Arthur of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and speeches by Brig-Gen. Cole, Big weight champion of the world, and which the first Victory note sold in New York will be purchased by Gov. Smith.

Scheduled to-day are the two Loan rallies in Hamilton Fish and Madison Square Parks, on the East Side. Nathan Strauss will preside at Hamilton Fish Park and R. K. Marcus, executive member of the Metropolitan Club, at Madison Square Park. Both meetings will begin at 2:30 P. M.

At the Public Library.

At the Liberty Theatre Booth on the steps of the Public Library the ceremonies will be opened at noon on Monday with a prayer by the Salvation Army Band, a prayer by the chaplain of the Twenty-seventh Division and the singing by Mrs. Clemens of the national hymn to the Altar of Liberty.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, just back from France, where she was sent to present the interests of women to the Peace Conference, will be the first speaker in the afternoon. Blanche Bates has promised to make a speech "somewhere between 4 and 5 o'clock."

Other speakers in the afternoon will be Brig-Gen. George Albert Wright, Field Artillery, Twenty-seventh Division; Gen. Wingate's father, Gen. George Wood Wingate, veteran of the civil war and founder of the system of rifle practice used in this country; Col. De Witt C. Weld, Jr., Commander of the 16th Field Artillery, and Capt. Fred de la Faigniere, Adjutant of the 16th.

"Americans All," the racial groups representing forty-two different countries, will be in charge each night at Victory Way. To-morrow night will be "Armenian Night," with Armenian girls in picturesque costumes participating in the exercises. A parade from the Armenian Public Library, 32 Lexington avenue, and the Armenian Apostolic Church, 221 East Twenty-seventh street, will terminate at the Park avenue plaza. On the platform at the north end of Victory Way speeches, costume dancing and folk songs will be part of the entertainment. Major-Gen. Argapetian of the Armenian army, Zaven Nalpanian and Archibald Macdonald will speak. Armenians will be the Grand Opera Company of Paris will sing. Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes of the Catholic Archdiocese of New York has prepared a commemoration which will be read this morning in every Catholic church throughout the diocese, urging upon his flock the duty of supporting the national Government by subscribing to the Victory Loan. He asks the clergy to contribute to the campaign by short, clear and frequent talks on the urgent need, the great service, the unquestioned surety and the monetary advantage of the loan.

Yesterday witnessed the finishing touches on the preparations which have been made by the various organizations which have undertaken to carry on the work of distributing Victory notes even more widely than the bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan. Nearly a thousand insurance men were addressed by Capt. Archie Roosevelt at the Bankers Club on the fortieth floor of the Equitable Building, 120 Broadway.

Introduced as the "honored son of an honored air," Capt. Roosevelt was greeted with cheers when he arose to speak. "It is up to all of us at home," he said, "to follow out what those men over there gave for their country. All that we are asked to do is to lend on the edge security every one of those men who gave their lives realized what they fought for. Maybe they couldn't recite the fourteen points—but they knew what they were fighting for—to whip the Germans."

"We must finish up the work which the doughboys with their rifle and bayonet fought for. I know that the American people will do it."

Flying Circus to Perform.
Gen. Pershing's famous headquarters band of 104 musicians, picked from the first division of the Argonne, which was early yesterday morning from the U. S. Von Steuben, and after medical examination took up their quarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Capt. Douglas Campbell, first officially credited American ace, was aloft over the city yesterday tuning up his machine for the exhibition which he expects to lead to-day.

With Capt. Campbell, New York's own "flying circus" will perform for the Easter Sunday crowds. While Capt. Campbell is twisting and turning above the city's skyscrapers in his "Bluebird," a squadron of six aviators who saw service at the front, led by Major Edmund Galt of Haverhill, Mass., will show battle formations. Col. Archie Miller, commanding officer of Haverhill Field, has picked this squadron for a tour of New York State in aid of the Victory Liberty Loan campaign.

The squadron will leave Mineola for their tour of State about 8 o'clock to-morrow morning. After passing over New York in battle formation pilots will break a record by starting a race up the Hudson for Albany, the city having notified the American Flying Club's Victory Liberty Loan committee that it will present a cup to the first pilot who lands there.

Appeals Sent by Wire.
Mrs. William G. McAdoo and William Allen White were among those who sent appeals by wire to the loan organization urging the importance of making the issue an overwhelming success. From Washington, Mrs. McAdoo telegraphed Mrs. John T. Pratt, chairman of the Women's Committee of the Second Reserve District.

"The women of the United States felt a year ago that no money price was too high for the winning of a victorious peace. The Government of the United States is now asking us to help raise the four and a half billion dollar subscription that totals the Victory Loan. Can we do less than our best to pay the price of peace?"

William Allen White cabled from Paris, where he is acting as correspondent for a newspaper syndicate after having served during 1917 as observer at the front for the American Red Cross, in which capacity he had ample opportunity for observing the economic condition of Europe. Mr. White's cable reads in part as follows:

"Here in Europe starving people, idle workmen and broken cities are watching the United States asking us to help raise the four and a half billion dollar subscription that totals the Victory Loan. Can we do less than our best to pay the price of peace?"

"With our help Europe will rise. The money we have lent and shall lend is protected by perfectly good security. Europe is a going concern which needs only temporary relief. Given three good crops her food situation will be normal. Given machinery for her wrecked industries and credits to start the wheels Europe will be functioning again as the world's best financial risk. There can be no doubt as to the soundness of our investment—if we make it sound. But if we fail to make this last investment in civilization all that we have given in blood and treasure is lost."

Governor's Son Goes to Congress.

PORT WORTH, Tex., April 19.—Fritz G. Lanham, son of a former Texas Governor and a Representative from this district for many years, will be elected to-day in the Twelfth Congressional district to succeed Representative James C. Wilson, who was appointed Federal Judge in this district. Lanham has no opposition.

FIRST U-BOAT HERE TO ROOT FOR LOAN

U-111, Sixteen Days Out From Plymouth, Reaches the Navy Yard.

CARRIES FIVE INCH GUNS

Four Others of Surrendered
German Craft on Way to Cities on Coast.

The German submarine U-111, formerly an undersea raider but now the property of the United States as part of Uncle Sam's "divvy" when the German fleet was surrendered, arrived in this city last night and was put to bed at the navy yard.

She, with four others like herself, will be used for the publicity and general purposes of the Victory or Fifth Liberty Loan. The other will arrive at various seaport cities of the United States within the next few days.

The U-111 came here last night under the command of Lieutenant-Commander S. Von Steuben, and after medical examination took up their quarters at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Capt. Douglas Campbell, first officially credited American ace, was aloft over the city yesterday tuning up his machine for the exhibition which he expects to lead to-day.

SECRETARY GLASS SURE OF SUCCESS

Tells Cleveland Workers Entire Country Is Ready.

CLEVELAND, April 19.—Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, in an address here to-night to approximately one thousand Cleveland workers, opened the Victory Loan campaign in this district by saying that the entire country is ready and that the success of the last Liberty Loan is assured.

Mr. Glass received an ovation when he arose to speak. In firing the opening gun of the campaign, he laid emphasis on the fact that the soldiers had done their part to save America and the civilized world from the German menace and that it was up to the stay at home to finish the glorious work.

"The work of our men must be backed up and the way to do it is to put the financial shoulder to the wheel and put over this loan," he said. "A world is to be rebuilt. Should we pause and debate as to who should rebuild it? No. The enterprise should be started right away with the wheel of mills and the din of a thousand essential industries should spread to the uttermost parts of the land."

"The American people should supplement their patriotism of war by the patriotism of peace. The foremost obligation is the duty of guarding jealously the honor of the nation."

"The war is over, in a sense, but I decline to believe that the American people are indifferent to the honorable commitment of their Government or the splendid of the nation's achievement by an exhibition of avarice in time of peace. Four Liberty Loans have been floated and nothing nor anybody can shake my faith in the purpose of the country to complete the splendid structure of national credit by making this last loan a great success."

"The valor of the American soldier, extolled, the work of the soldiers' relief societies praised, the magnitude of the victory and its meaning set forth, then the speaker ended with these words:

"The honor of the Government is involved. Being your Government it is your duty to support it. I know that the appeal of the American Government to the American people will meet a response of which the nation will be proud."

Secretary Glass will review a monster Victory Loan military parade here to-morrow.

HEROES OF THE AIR TO FLY FOR LOAN

Brethren of the Battleplane
Hold a Send Off Meeting at Club.

There was nothing particularly ferocious or bloodthirsty about the fifty or more young men, in the uniforms of the American, French and British air services, who were gathered to-night to get a flying start in their Victory Loan activities in the new quarters of the American Flying Club at 11 East Thirty-eighth street, but they were determined to make the most of the occasion.

The occasion for the gathering was to wish success and luck to Major Edward Lyon, Capt. Alex A. Dade and Lieut. R. L. Moughan, S. L. Alder, R. A. Pierson, H. D. Norris and B. T. Tocher, the personnel of the flying circus which will perform next week in the interests of the loan. Leaving Haverhill Field to-morrow the circus will visit Albany, Syracuse, Medina, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Utica and Schenectady on succeeding days. The flight will be in the nature of a race, with a cup as the prize for the winner of each leg of the journey.

Croix de Guerre, Distinguished Service Crosses, Medallions Militaire, Distinguished Flying Crosses, Military Crosses, Belgian War Crosses, crosses of the Legion of Honor and a couple of white starred blue ribbons, indicating that the wearers are the possessors of the most coveted of service decorations, the Congressional Medal of Honor, were worn by the aviators in attendance and this gave rise to the mental speculation of what deeds were performed to gain these honors.

Lieut. Edward C. Parsons of the Lafayette Escadrille presented an immediate difficulty. He wore the Croix de Guerre with nine palms, the Belgian Croix de Guerre with palm, the French Legion of Honor, the Medallion Militaire and several others. There was Lieut. Edward Green, officially credited with eight enemy planes, and Lieut. R. Moughan, who has at least six Germans to his credit, but the task of reckoning up the score of these air fighters had to be given up when Lieut. T. L. McCord, Jr., of the British Royal Air Force was reached. He wore the British Distinguished Flying Cross and French Croix de Guerre, with citation, for his feat in scoring a direct hit with an aerial bomb on a swiftly moving German troops train, wrecking it with enormous loss of life.

The first formal dinner of the American Flying Club, held last night, was planned in France when peace was not yet in sight. Lawrence L. Driggs, now president of the club, conceived the idea of bringing together American young men who were serving in the air forces of the Allies, and with this in view caused the scheme to be circulated while in France. The club now numbers 600 members.

Announcement made by F. G. Diffin, vice-president, of the successful non-stop flight from Chicago to Hazelhurst Field, news of which was brought to him while the dinner was in progress, was loudly cheered by the aviators as marking an epoch in aeronautics, and the prediction was freely made that the proposed attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean also would be crowned with success. Mr. Diffin, who leaves for France soon, is one of the executives of the United Aircraft Engineering Corporation, which recently concluded a deal for the airplanes and equipment left on Canada's hands by the sudden end of the war.

Among those attending were Lieut. Col. H. W. Gregg, Lieut. Col. B. M. Atkinson, Major C. B. Harmon, Lieut. Thomas Ash, Jr., Paul Haer, John M. Kelly, M. B. Carroll, S. G. Evans, A. C. Uhlhorn, Phillips Melville, M. L. Hull, L. R. Wiesbaden and M. Watson. Lieut. and Gutsen Borglum, sculptor, who aided in the organization of the club.

300 IN STORE WHEN $50,000 FIRE STARTS

All Get Out Quietly—Nine
Firemen Are Injured.

The 5 and 10-cent store of F. & W. Grand at 8 East Fourteenth street was crowded with shoppers late yesterday afternoon when Patrolman August Sorn of the East Twenty-second street station walked in and reaching the centre of the main aisle ordered every one to leave the building and do it quietly. He did not explain what was the trouble, merely issuing the order. When the buyers and 300 girl employees got outside they saw smoke coming from a basement grating.

Three alarms were turned in and for two hours the firemen battled with a fire that had gained headway in the basement and finally cut through the centre of the main floor. Chief Michael Quinn of the Sixth battalion, Capt. Stephen McKenna of Engine 72 and Capt. Joseph McCamby of Engine 25, with a half dozen firemen, were overcome by smoke in an effort to break through an iron door in the brick furnace box to get at the seat of the blaze. A store manager said that stock value at $50,000 stored in the cellar was a total loss. Traffic on the Fourteenth street crosswalk line was held up for four hours and police reserves were called out from the Charles street station to keep the crowds out of the fire line. Fireman William O'Connor of Engine 18 was carried out of the cellar unconscious, but was revived soon after. The damage was confined to the basement and the main floor.

Are You Interested in Russia?

DO YOU realize that the Russian problem at this moment is the fundamental European problem, and therefore the fundamental World problem of today? Peace in Europe is impossible without peace in Russia. The League of Nations is impossible without Russia becoming an orderly democracy and a participant in the League. The peace and happiness of the entire world depend upon the establishment of a stable, democratic government in Russia.

STRUGGLING RUSSIA

A New Weekly Magazine Devoted to Russian Problems

The first four issues of the magazine contain articles by Catherine Breshkovsky, Alexander Kerensky, Nicholas Tchaikovsky, Paul Miliukov, Leonid Andreiev, Vladimir Bourizev and others.

What Is Bolshevism?
Writing on Bolshevism, Catherine Breshkovsky, "The Grandmother of the Russian Revolution," says:

"LENIN'S tyranny, just like the Tsar's tyranny, is the rule of a small minority over a great people, through armed force. The absurdity and criminality of the Bolshevist tyranny is evident. There is one hope for Russia, and a very strong one—that is our peasantry. This class cannot long endure the chaos brought about by Bolshevism. The existence of their families, of their husbands, is at stake. Traditionally they are religious, and they ask for justice and truth. And there is no doubt that under the general depression and anarchy which is ravaging Russia, there is a strata of strong characters and honest souls that will finally tear off the crust of vice and depravity from the body of Russia and prove their ability to be good citizens of their country and true friends to their countrymen."

("Struggling Russia," March 22, 1919)

Writing on the same subject, the well-known revolutionist, now President of the Archangel Government, Nicholas Tchaikovsky, says:

"THE Bolsheviki are not a political party. Bolshevism is not a political and not a social concept or theory. It is a disaster, a horrible aftermath of the war which we had to wage under trying and disadvantageous conditions. A disaster must be fought. There can be no agreement with an affliction. Justice—no matter under what conditions—cannot come to terms with criminality. To us Bolshevism is a crime and the Bolsheviki as much of a common enemy as the Germans who have despoiled Belgium and France. That is the reason why we turn to the Allies for aid, so much more because we recognize that Bolshevism, as a destructive power, may spread like an unchecked conflagration into other countries. But once it meets an armed and disciplined force, it is bound to capitulate and to surrender even unconsciously. Such an armed and disciplined force must be placed in its way. There must be a unity of front!"

("Struggling Russia," March 22, 1919.)

The Threat of Bolshevism
Discussing the spread of Bolshevism in Central Europe, and the relations between Russia and the Allies, "Struggling Russia" says editorially:

"RUSSIA'S sacrifices and sufferings have been so enormous and her present situation is so pitiful that nothing can happen which can possibly make the situation in our country more grave. We have sounded the depths of all possible misfortunes long ago, and the situation grows worse not for us, but for our friends. Will the Allied nations understand, with the Bolshevist infection going deeper and deeper, nearer and nearer to their hearts, that the Russian problem is the problem and that it is necessary to take it up and solve it once for all time, engaging for its solution all the available moral and material resources?"

("Struggling Russia," March 29, 1919.)
